General Instructions

Purpose of Form

Use Form 8914 to claim your personal exemptions, exemptions for dependents, and the additional exemption amount for providing housing in your main home to one or more Midwestern displaced individuals.

Additional Exemption Amount

You can claim an additional exemption amount of $500 for each Midwestern displaced individual (defined below). You can claim an additional exemption amount only one time for a specific individual. If you claimed an additional exemption amount for an individual in 2008, you cannot claim that amount again for the same individual in 2009.

The maximum additional exemption amount you can claim for all displaced individuals is $2,000. Any additional exemption amount you claimed for displaced individuals in 2008 will reduce the $2,000 maximum for 2009. The $2,000 limit applies to a husband and wife, whether the husband and wife file joint returns or separate returns. If married filing separately, the $2,000 can be divided in $500 increments between the spouses. For example, if one spouse claims an additional exemption amount for one displaced individual, the other spouse, if otherwise eligible, can claim additional exemption amounts for three different displaced individuals.

If two or more taxpayers share the same main home, only one taxpayer in that main home can claim the additional exemption amount for a specific displaced individual. In order for you to be considered to have provided housing, you must have a legal interest in the main home (that is, own or rent the home).

Midwestern Displaced Individual

To qualify as a Midwestern displaced individual, an individual must meet the following three conditions.

- The individual must have had his or her main home in one of the counties listed in Table 1 or Table 2 on page 4 on an applicable disaster date shown in the table for that county, and he or she must have been displaced from that home. In addition, if the individual's main home was in a county listed in Table 2, the home must have been damaged by the storms, tornadoes, or flooding that gave rise to the disaster declaration for that county, or the individual must have been evacuated from the home because of the storms, tornadoes, or flooding.
- He or she must have been provided housing in your main home free of charge for a period of at least 60 consecutive days ending in 2009. See Compensation for Housing below.
- He or she cannot be your spouse or dependent.

Compensation for Housing

You cannot claim the additional exemption amount if you received rent (or any other amount) from any source for providing the housing. You are permitted to receive payments or reimbursements that do not relate to normal housing costs, including the following.

- Food, clothing, or personal items consumed or used by the displaced individual.
- Reimbursement for the cost of any long distance telephone calls made by the displaced individual.
- Reimbursement for the cost of gasoline for the displaced individual's use of your vehicle.

However, you cannot claim the additional exemption amount if you received any reimbursement for the extra costs of heat, electricity, or water used by the displaced individual.

Specific Instructions
